

To Whom it may concern:

March 10, 2015

I approached Sirius Instrumentation and Controls Inc. because I had heard that they provided effective chemical injection systems in the area.

I required a system that provided accurate rates both low and high, a reliable power source, an efficient method of injecting different chemicals at different rates and industry compliant storage tanks.

Sirius was able to meet all of my requirements and then some. The optional covers on the storage tanks that effectively eliminate rain and snow from inhabiting the secondary containment areas was a welcome bonus. Their service is always timely and helpful and shows they are committed to their products.

I would recommend Sirius Instrumentation and Controls Inc. to all those who require chemical injection solutions.

Sincerely,
